A reduction to the essential: Hansaprado.

Simple – but no mere fitting.

Hansaprado is a classic Hansa fitting – functional and featuring tried-and-tested technology. We have given it an attractive and high-quality design which can be easily integrated in both modern and traditional bathroom plans. Each Hansaprado fitting reveals a variety of quality features in terms of finish and technology: its Hansa standard high-quality brass corpus features a particularly corrosion-resistant alloy to ensure that drinking water remains clean over the long term. Thanks to the original Hansaeco control cartridge, savings of up to 50% are possible in terms of water and energy. Its precisely shaped and self-lubricating ceramic discs ensure lasting smooth operation.

Attractive, user-friendly and convenient: Hansaprado as a concealed solution in the shower means great showering enjoyment, Hansavarox technology sets a new standard in concealed systems and reveals tremendous versatility: you are not tied to a particular fitting for ever and can easily change over to a new single-lever fitting or even a thermostat solution years later if you wish – with no damage caused to the wall or plaster.

Subtle and discreet, yet a shining example anywhere.

Attractive and silent: Hansaprado as a concealed solution for the bath. The top-mounted soft-push lever is easily accessible as well as being particularly silent. A great advantage for buildings housing several individual residential units.

Stylish and practical: the Hansaprado bath version as an exposed version – combined here with a Hansabasicjet hand shower. A practical feature is represented by the lockable diverter for changing between the bath and shower mixer. The Hansa shower range also offers a large selection of equally attractive and functional showers heads which can be combined with Hansaprado.

A classic solution for the shower: Hansaprado as an exposed solution is visually appealing and offers all the advantages of Hansaeco technology.

Simply great for the entire bathroom.

A bidet adds convenience and a touch of luxury to any bathroom. Hansaprado bidet fittings combine elegance with hygienic convenience, refreshing you for the day to come.

Traditional Hansa technology in the bidet version: the swivel spout is convincing thanks to its precise ball joint enabling the cascade angle to be adjusted easily and safely.

Hansaprado is also available as a practical single-lever fitting, which is mounted directly and economically on the rim of the bath.

Hansaprado for the entire bathroom: the range combines classic Hansa values such as functionality and durability with an understated design. From the special corrosion-resistant DR-brass alloy through high-quality chrome-plating to the particularly water and energy-saving Hansaeco control cartridge, Hansaprado is a range of fittings with many qualities. Thanks to our new Hansavarox technology for concealed mounting, Hansaprado is a versatile and forward-looking system which can be replaced and upgraded at any time without damaging the plaster or walls.
